

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A stone cutting system for efficiently cutting stones of various shapes and sizes. The stone cutting system includes a retaining unit having a plurality of troughs capable of retaining a plurality of stone members, and a cutting unit having a plurality of blades that are extendable within each of the troughs for cutting the stone members.